SOUL MATES: “I wanted my fruit crate to transform into another sustainable object as well as become a vessel for one of my whimsical signature animal portraits.”

Esta Mann

THE AMERICAN DREAM:

“To me, my crate represents an inclusive world where everyone can be whomever they want and live their lives how they choose.”

Rich Schleicher

UNCRATED: “I was inspired by the individual pieces of the crate. I wanted to show how its past functionality could be deconstructed, and transformed into a modern art piece.”

About the Artist

For the past 10 years, I have been focused on studying and mastering The Cape Cod School of Art, an impressionistic style of painting. I continually study with the masters of that school to advance my craft. Recently retired from a successful career in Real Estate, I am excited to focus full time on my passion: painting.

My love of landscapes and architecture is what drives the creativity in my work. My paintings begin in plein air or still life. Often a favorite scene will develop into many paintings with a change in the colors based on the atmosphere. My medium of choice is oil applied with a palette knife to wood board.
